Annual Management Report of Fund Performance

For the year ended December 31, 2018

MANAGEMENT REPORT OF FUND PERFORMANCE

WisdomTree Asset Management Canada, Inc. (“WisdomTree”) is pleased to provide you with the Annual Management Report of Fund Performance (“MRFP”) for the WisdomTree U.S. MidCap Dividend Index ETF (the “ETF”) for the year ended December 31, 2018. The ETF trades on the Toronto Stock Exchange (the “TSX”) under the ticker symbols UMI (Hedged Units) and UMLB (Non-Hedged Units).

WisdomTree is the trustee, manager and promoter of the ETF. Mellon Investments Corporation (the “Investment Advisor”) is the investment advisor to the ETF.

Investment Objectives and Strategies

The investment objective of the ETF is to track, to the extent possible, the price and yield performance of the WisdomTree U.S. MidCap Dividend Index CAD (the “Index”), before fees and expenses. The Index is a fundamentally weighted index designed to provide exposure to the mid-capitalization segment of the U.S. dividend-paying market.

The investment strategy of the ETF is to invest in and hold a proportionate share of the constituent securities of the Index or otherwise invest in a manner intended to track the price and yield performance of the Index. The ETF uses derivative instruments to hedge the U.S. dollar exposure of the securities attributable to the Hedged Units to the Canadian dollar. Any U.S. dollar exposure of the securities attributable to the Non-Hedged Units will not be hedged to the Canadian dollar.

Risk

No material changes were made which affected the overall level of risk associated with an investment in the ETF for the year ended December 31, 2018. The overall level of risk associated with an investment in the ETF remains as disclosed in the most recent prospectus.

Results of Operations

For the 12 months ended December 31, 2018, the Non-Hedged Units returned -1.10% versus the Index return of -0.50%. The Hedged Units returned -9.99% versus the -9.65% return of their benchmark index, WisdomTree U.S. MidCap Dividend Index CAD-Hedged. The difference in performance of the Non-Hedged Units and Hedged Units relative to their respective benchmark indexes is related to management fees and other miscellaneous factors.

The U.S. equity market, as measured by the S&P 500 Index, returned -4.38% in U.S. dollar terms and 4.23% in Canadian dollar terms for the 12-month period ended December 31, 2018. The period was characterized by significant market volatility, particularly in the fourth quarter. At the end of the period, the S&P 500 erased its 9 months gain of 10.56% to end 2018 down 4.38%. This was the first calendar year loss for the index since the 2008 financial crisis. Positive returns through the third quarter were driven by robust corporate profit and economic growth, aided by the benefit of U.S. corporate tax reform. Key drivers of the broad fourth quarter sell-off included: concerns about the sustainability of U.S. corporate earnings growth, U.S. credit quality, as well as concerns about slowing global economic growth and trade. During the period, the Federal Reserve also raised the benchmark rate four times, equating to a cumulative increase of 100bps in 2018. In the last 6 months of 2018, the Consumer Price Index decreased from its 2018 peak. Meanwhile, U.S. inflation expectations, as measured by the difference between the nominal and real 10-year U.S. Treasury yields, fell below the 2% threshold — a signal from the market that further rate increases in late 2018 and beyond may not be warranted.

Defensive, domestic-focused sectors like Healthcare and Utilities outperformed the S&P 500 Index returning 6.47% and 4.11%, respectively. Energy, Materials, Industrials, and Financials which are more sensitive to domestic and global economic growth, underperformed the S&P 500 Index returning -18.10%, -14.70%, and -13.32%, and -13.04%, respectively. During this time growth stocks outperformed value stocks. The ETF faced headwinds as the portfolio was underweight Healthcare by about 12%, and overweight both Industrials and Materials by about 5% relative to the S&P 500 Index.

The U.S. dollar strengthened in 2018 driven by strong economic growth and rising interest rates; the U.S. dollar gained approximately 8.48% to the Canadian dollar over the period. The performance of the Hedged Units and Non-Hedged Units diverged as the strengthening U.S. dollar acted as a tailwind to the returns of the Non-Hedged Units.

<sup>7</sup> The ETF's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the ETF's portfolio manager trades its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the ETF buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a portfolio's turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the ETF in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the ETF.
